

There's a Psalm for This

I'm always struck by the self-awareness displayed by some Psalms. Psalm 41 for instance, opens with the psalmist exclaiming the good news that God cares about the poor, and the person who cares about the poor is "truly happy" and the Lord looks out for them, and then the psalmist goes, "Yea, I haven't entirely done that and now I'm in trouble." We don't like to admit when we don't do what we're called to do, but here's the psalmist, doing exactly that!

Psalm 41 (CEB)

For the music leader. A psalm of David.

Those who pay close attention to the poor are truly happy!

The Lord rescues them during troubling times.

The Lord protects them and keeps them alive;

they are widely regarded throughout the land as happy people.

You won't hand them over to the will of their enemies.

The Lord will strengthen them when they are lying in bed, sick.

You will completely transform the place where they lie ill.

But me? I said, "Lord, have mercy on me! Heal me because I have sinned against you."

My enemies speak maliciously about me: "When will he die and his name disappear?"

Whenever they come to visit, they say nothing of value.

Their hearts collect evil gossip; once they leave, they tell it to everybody.

All of those who hate me talk about me, whispering to each other, plotting evil against me:

"Some horrible thing has been poured into him; the next time he lies down, he won't get up."

Even my good friend, the one I trusted, who shared my food, has kicked me with his heel—a betrayer!

But you, Lord, please have mercy on me and lift me up so I can pay them back!

Then I'll know you are pleased with me because my enemy won't be shouting in triumph over me.

You support me in my integrity;

you put me in your presence forever.

Bless the Lord, the God of Israel, from forever to forever!

Amen and Amen!

There are so many things that we know we're called to do as followers of Jesus, but we don't. We know the call to image God – to show the world who God is – and yet we more often reflect the media we consume rather than reflect God. We know the call to love our neighbor as we love ourselves, but instead we act selfishly and don't think of our neighbors' interest. We know we're called to share the faith we have, but instead we keep it to ourselves.

But despite all our shortcomings, despite our failure to do all of those things we're called to do in response to the grace God has shown us, like the psalmist, we cry out to God for mercy and forgiveness. And God hears that cry, lifting us up again and forgiving us, and calling us again into God's presence.

Keep those in prayer who are in harm's way

Medical professionals and all who are continuing to work during this pandemic.

Braxton Jepps, serving in the US Navy.

Let Pastor Mike know if there are any petitions you wish to add to our Prayer List. If you added someone to the prayer list, please update us on how they are doing! We love to celebrate praises as well as petitions. Out of concern for people's privacy, we no longer speak people's names in the worship service, but we continue to pray for all their needs and concerns.
